

Down by the Water

Words and Music by Lisa Reiff

I've walked this shore a thousand times
It's here you've held this heart of mine
Sometimes I dive in over my head
Sometimes I stand here frozen at the edge

Surrounded by the wind and waves
Crying out for You to save me
My hands held high and my heart bowed low
I know that I have nowhere else to go
But to you Lord

Who am I that You would see me
Who am I that You would hear me
Who am I that You would call me Your own
Who am I that You would love me
Who am I that You would heal me
Who am I that you would make my heart Your home
Down by the water

In times of joy and when seasons change
Summer days and pouring rain
Nights I thought I'd reached the end
You'd call my name and you meet me here again

Who am I that You would see me
Who am I that You would hear me
Who am I that You would call me Your own
Who am I that You would love me
Who am I that You would heal me
Who am I that you would make my heart Your home

An ocean of living water full of ev'rything You are Crashing over me
And You're changing me
Your spirit moving in my soul
You wash me clean and make me whole again
I'm whole again

Who am I that You would see me
Who am I that You would hear me
Who am I that You would call me Your own
Who am I that You would love me
Who am I that You would heal me
Who am I that you would make my heart Your home

I've walked this shore a thousand times
It's here you've held this heart of mine
